

TROOPS BATTLE WITH STRIKERS

Attempt To Move Trains In Russia Brings On Decided Conflicts At Depots.

SOLDIERS FIRE UPON THE MOBS

Take The Part Of The Engineers When They Are Made
The Target For The Missiles Of The Crowds On Streets.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]

St. Petersburg, Oct. 26.—An effort to move trains out of St. Petersburg under military escort Wednesday night resulted in a pitched battle with the strikers, in which several persons were killed on both sides and scores were wounded. The disturbance began when the engineers mounted their cabs. Instantly they were targets for revolver shots.

The troops charged the mobs, which resisted frantically. Hundreds of the workmen were armed, and they showed uncommon bravery in facing the rifles and sabers of the soldiers. Bloodshed is reported in all parts of the empire. Hardly a wheel is turning in European Russia. Telegraphic communication is cut off in many directions.

The emperor is isolated at Peterhof. The mail service has been forced practically to suspend business. Hundreds of thousands of workers of all classes are striking in sympathy with the railroad men, and all industries are crippled. There is great suffering among the poor and famine is threatened in many quarters.

Confronted by a situation more crucial than any since the beginning of the political and social upheaval, the emperor's ministers, under the leadership of Count Witte, spent almost all of Wednesday in conferences in the hope of finding some way out of the crisis into which the revolutionists and the socialists have cast the country.

The ministers, who had been in session during the day, resumed their meeting after a short interval for dinner and continued their deliberations until long after midnight. The result of these deliberations is not known.

The general strike on the railroads is complete except in a few border provinces, and St. Petersburg, Moscow and other large cities are almost as closely beleaguered as if they were invested by besieging armies.

Store Clerks Declare Strike.
Forty thousand men are on strike in this city alone. The store clerks' union has proclaimed a two weeks' sympathetic strike for political reasons. Prudent inhabitants are laying in stocks of provisions so as to prepare for emergencies. As a consequence the prices of provisions have risen sharply.

Large meetings, mainly of workmen, were held Wednesday night in the university and the higher schools, at which the sentiment was unanimous for continuing the strike on the railroads to the bitter end. The proceedings at several of the meetings were of a strongly revolutionary character, the orators calling on their auditors to rise and slay all "chivovniks" and the police and to meet the troops with armed force.

These speeches were received with enthusiastic cheers. The police were powerless to interfere, the precincts of the university being forbidden ground to them under an imperial ukase.

Resolve on General Strike.

The League of Leagues has adopted a resolution in favor of a general strike of all professions. The telegraph operators are joining in the movement, and the suspension of railroad traffic, it is feared, will be followed by a complete obliteration of communication between interior points.

The situation is critical and pregnant of all sorts of dire possibilities. The factories in the affected districts have been forced to shut down for lack of fuel, and Moscow especially faces not only a food but a water famine. Fortunately St. Petersburg will have communication open through Finland.

The social democrats believe they have the government at their mercy, since with the railroads stopped the authorities are powerless to transport troops. This is all the more serious as bloody collisions already have been reported at various places and a dangerous agrarian movement has again broken out.

The strength displayed by the social democrats has amazed the authorities, who were taken quite as much by surprise at the evidence of their power as they were at the time of the "Gap-on rebellion." The distress in the central provinces is greatly increased by the enforced suspension of the famine relief work.

More Gatherings

Odessa, Oct. 26.—It is reported an attempt was made to hold an anarchistic meeting aboard the battleship Katherine and in the fortress. Four hundred were arrested.

Stocks Drop

New York, Oct. 26.—On account of the strike in Russia, Russian stocks dropped today in Paris and London.

The Czar—Oh! I know you are starving, but the law of trade says that all this food stuff must be exported. When you get real hungry perhaps some charitable people in America will send over a shipload of grain for you.

There are 18,000,000 people in Russia on the verge of starvation.—News Item.

"EMERGENCY" TAFT SENT TO ISTHMUS

Will Study Conditions So That He May Ask for Right Sized Appropriations.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Pensacola, Fla., Oct. 26.—Secretary of War Taft, accompanied by Col. Edwards, chief of the Panama Canal Commission, started for Panama today on the cruiser Columbia, in command of Commander John Bowyer. It is regarded as necessary for Secretary Taft to put himself in close touch with the conditions of the isthmus pending the session of Congress, and the necessity for detailed explanations pending appropriations. Mr. Taft will endeavor to reach the isthmus in time for the national holiday celebrations.

CHICAGO MEETINGS CAUSE EXCITEMENT

Mayor Dunne Is Busy Welcoming Conventions That Are in the City.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]

Chicago, Oct. 26.—The mayor was one of the first arrivals at the interstate commerce and law convention. Four policemen guarded the entrance to prevent disorder. Every delegate was questioned in an effort to find whether the railroad men were in sympathy with the objects of the meeting. A telegram from ex-Senator Chandler of New Hampshire urged the delegates to force the "railroad" men to leave. There were rival railroad rate regulation conventions today. The "revolutionists," headed by F. G. Kiesel, went to the regular convention. When they were asked to sign a pledge binding themselves to support Roosevelt's recommendations, Kiesel led his followers from Steinway hall to the Auditorium Annex, where a "rump" convention was organized. The regulars were welcomed by the mayor. There were addresses made by R. W. Higbee of the National Wholesale Dealers' association, of New York, and F. D. Campbell, a former railroad commissioner of Iowa.

Interested in Sports.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Mayor Dunne, and a number of other prominent citizens took part in the laying of the corner stone of the new Illinois Athletic club today. The club will be one of the finest in the country when completed.

Great Missionary Meeting.
New York, Oct. 26.—The general executive committee of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Episcopal church opened its annual session here today and will be in conference for one week. This committee has to do with the affairs of the entire society at home and abroad so that the meetings will be of worldwide interest. The society numbers in its constituency 217,000 members. Its yearly receipts amount to half a million dollars.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES.

William F. Thorne, a prominent Vincennes, Ind., farmer, is dead from the effects of the runaway.

William H. York of Lawrenceburg, Ky., charged with murdering his brother, cut his throat with a razor yesterday and will die.

Otto Chenoweth, who is alleged to have stolen $40,000 worth of horses from A. C. Hulsekoper of Medina, N. D., in 1901 and afterward escaped from jail, has been captured in Wyoming. The cornerstone of the Indianapolis Methodist hospital, to cost $500,000, is laid. Vice President Fairbanks and Senator Beveridge spoke. Governor Hanly laid the stone.

David Lower and wife, an aged couple living near Milford, Ind., were found dead when the house was broken open by neighbors. Indications are that both were asphyxiated by coal gas.

The private bank of Harvey Hoag at Barker, N. Y., was robbed yesterday by three men, who cut all the telephone wires entering the village and blew open the safe of the bank. They got away with about $5,000 in gold. Hoag later recovered $2,800 in bills in a hat lying in front of the bank.

TO THE LOUISIANA TIMBER DISTRICTS

Branch Railway Purchased by Atche-son, Topeka & Santa Fe—Edgerton Men Interested.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 26.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad here today, three directors will be elected to hold office for four years. Those whose terms expire are Benjamin P. Cheney, George G. Haven and Henry H. Rogers. The stockholders will also ratify the lease to the Atchafalaya of the Oskaloosa Western railway, a branch line which has been built and placed in operation from Riverbank, Cal., to Oskaloosa, also confirm the purchase of the Jasper and Eastern Railway company, extending from Kirbyville, Texas to the Louisiana timber districts. It is expected that these lines will prove valuable feeders to the system. Ratification of the purchase of the Southern California Railway will also be asked of the stockholders.

Several Edgerton business men have become interested in the Louisiana timber lands recently.

"RATE REGULATORS" ARE IN CONVENTION

Interstate Commerce Law Commission
Will Attempt to Prevail Upon Congress.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 26.—Delegates representing the various trade, industrial and producing interests of the country met here today at the opening of the Interstate Commerce Law Convention at the Auditorium hotel. The object of the convention is to impress upon Congress the extent and persistence of the demand of the people of all parts of the country for legislation outlined in President Roosevelt's last annual message to Congress, in which he advocated that power be vested in the Interstate Commerce Commission for the regulation of railroad rates. Thus the issue is to be joined. And the great struggle between the advocates of rate reform, with the President as their leader, on one side, and railroad corporations on the other, will soon be on in earnest.

STATE NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. James Scott celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary at Beloit last night. They were married in the Beloit Methodist church. James Crawford, aged 32, a prosperous farmer, was killed near Gays Mills by the turning over of a load of lumber with which he started home after dark.

The erection of a large hoop mill to employ not less than thirty men was begun on Tuesday at Frederic. The mill will be the largest of its kind in Polk county.

Several schools in Outagamie county have been closed for two weeks to give the pupils opportunity to assist in the work of husking corn at their homes, labor being scarce. The trial of Samuel Blowsnake and three other men held at Waupaca for the murder and robbery of Kickapoo Shabodock in 1903 has been postponed to the spring term of court.

ROOSEVELT DOES NOT FEAR YELLOW FEVER

President Arrives in New Orleans.
Where He Shows No Fear
at All.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]

New Orleans, La., Oct. 26.—President Roosevelt, accompanied by Secretary Loeb and Surgeon-General Rixey, arrived here this morning from Memphis over the Illinois Central railroad. The windows of the cars on the presidential train were closely screened and everything possible was done to insure the President against infection from yellow fever germs. Governor Blanchard, Mayor Behrman and the committee from the Board of Trade and city council met the party at the station and welcomed Mr. Roosevelt on behalf of the citizens of New Orleans. A reception will be tendered the President this afternoon and he will make a speech and be driven around the city. Only six hours will be spent in the city and about four o'clock the party will go aboard the cruiser West Virginia under the command of Rear Admiral Brownson, and be taken to Old Point Comfort, Va. From Old Point, Mr. Roosevelt will go to Washington by train, reaching the capital about the 31st.

Uneventful Run

It was an uneventful all-night run from Memphis, with no stops in Mississippi except to take water, but with crowds of Mississippians who greeted the train as it flashed by the stations. United States Senator Foster and Congressman Davy of Louisiana met the President at Hammond, thirty miles from here. On the arrival here the train was transferred to the docks, where the President and four hundred citizens boarded the steamship Comus for a trip on the river. A high wind was blowing and kept most of the passengers below, but the President paid no heed to the wind or weather. A light buffet lunch was served on board. The party disembarked at eleven-thirty for a parade on the principal streets. The fever-infected houses along the route did not worry the President in the least. He considered himself immune because he was unaffected in the midst of the yellow fever in the Cuban campaign. A striking feature of the parade was battle-scarred Confederate veterans marching on foot. The decorations are said to surpass those to honor the victorious federal troops returning from the war in Mexico a half century ago. The national colors have never flaunted so profusely in this city since. Multitudes cheered President Roosevelt with enthusiasm as he rode along, each person apparently exasperated because of physical limits placed upon their vociferousness by nature.

Chairman Shonts of the isthmian canal commission is ill at his residence in Washington.

C. J. Devlin, formerly a banker of Topeka, Kas., arrived at New York on the steamship Caronia.

Claude F. Morris, a well-known banker of Helena, and Alice C., daughter of Theodore Manwaring of Ann Arbor, Mich., were married at the home of the bride.

The special feature of the annual founder's day exercises at Lafayette college, Easton, Pa., was the honor paid to Professor Francis A. March, the "grand old man" of the institution, who is celebrating his eightieth birthday anniversary. The trustees tendered Dr. March the retirement from all college work upon full salary.

TO LOOK INTO LIFE COMPANY

President McCurdy Introduces Resolution For Probing Committee At Once.

MORTON CUTS DOWN THE EXPENSES

Statement Of The Equitable For Nine Months Shows An Excess Of Receipts Of A Half Million Over Last Year.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Oct. 26.—The Mutual Life Insurance Company is to have an investigation of its own. Apparently the officials and directors are not entirely satisfied with the course of the legislative inquiry, for President Richard A. McCurdy announced that the board of trustees of his company has appointed a committee from its membership to look into the company's affairs and methods and report.

The committee consists of W. H. Truesdale, president of the Lackawanna Railroad; Effingham B. Morris, president of the Girard Trust Company, and John W. Auchincloss, a director in the Illinois Central and other large corporations.

Statement Shows Saving.
Another interesting development in insurance matters was a statement issued by President Morton of the Equitable showing that the receipts of that company for the nine months of this year exceeded the expenditures by $16,723,197, an increase of more than $500,000, compared with the same period last year. Receipts from premiums on policies for the third quarter this year were over $1,000,000 less than 1904. The expenses of the third quarter of this year were $839,913 less than last year, but for the first six months there was an increase over last year of $424,943.

The reduction of $839,913 in current expenses for the third quarter was said at the society's offices to be due to the fact that less business was written during that period this year than last, and therefore fewer commissions were paid, and also to the fact that salaries have been reduced and other economies effected. A credit of $881,619 to the profit and loss account for nine months represented profits on securities sold. The amount of the falling off in new business is not given in the report.

New Equitable Directors.

At the monthly meeting of the directors of the Equitable Society, Sir William C. Van Horne of Montreal, J. D. Kernan of Utica and William C. Redfield of Brooklyn were nominated to fill vacancies. They will be elected at the November meeting.

After an entire day given over to the examination of Emory McClintock, actuary of the Mutual Life, and to the reading of column after column of figures, the legislative committee Wednesday adjourned until Nov. 3, the day after the election. This extended adjournment was taken to enable the members of the committee who are candidates for re-election to the assembly to meet their constituents and conduct their campaigns.

The testimony of Mr. McClintock was of a technical nature. A number of his explanations brought out the fact that his ideas were in many respects at variance with the established methods of insurance companies, and that of his own company in particular. This was especially apparent when the subject of deferred dividend policies was being inquired into. He said the word "deferred" was ambiguous and misleading, as it implied that dividends were accumulating or were paid at the end of each year. The company, he said, reserved the right, when it wrote a policy, to say what amount should be apportioned at the end of each dividend period.

WAS FOUND GUILTY OF KILLING CHILD

Grandson of the Late William H.
Vanderbilt Is Sentenced in a French Court.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]

Paris, Oct. 26.—Elliott F. Shepard, an American and a grandson of the late Wm. H. Vanderbilt, was found guilty this morning on the charge of manslaughter in causing the death on August 23 of a twelve-year-old girl, over whom Shepard's automobile ran. He was sentenced to three months' imprisonment with a respite and ordered to pay a fine of six hundred francs and costs, while an award of twenty thousand francs was made in favor of the child's parents, this to be paid jointly by Shepard and the automobile company by which he was employed.

William R. Murphy of Green Bay, who settled in the Menominee from range about twenty years ago, will receive $20,000 this year from ore taken from under his land.

GIVES WARNING OF GREAT PANIC THAT MAY COME NOW

Secretary Shaw Discusses The Financial System Of The United States
At Length.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 26.—"Our financial system is the best in the world, because it is constructed on the decimal, or metric system," declared Secretary Shaw in an address before the Nebraska State Bankers' association. "The system is not perfect," he continued, "largely because it is non-elastic. It fails to respond in volume to the changing needs of seasons and of localities."

"That there will be no further currency legislation until we shall have experienced a panic occasioned by this want of elasticity I am convinced. The country does not appreciate the danger, and until the danger is fully understood no remedy will be applied. We came nearer such a panic Sept. 30, 1902, than most people appreciate. A remedy should be discovered, discussed, and as far as possible, agreed upon, so that it may be promptly applied when the people are ready for it."

Must Not Have Inflation.
"Annually we have an excess of money during the spring and summer months. Annually we pass through a period of anxiety as we approach the period of crop-making, for annually the volume of money is relatively insufficient to meet this sudden increase of business. We do not need and must not have inflation. The average amount of money is, in my judgment, abundant. The difficulty lies in the fact that the volume remains stationary. The result is an unsatisfactory as it would be for railroads to run the same number of freight trains with the same number of cars on the same schedule of time at all seasons of the year."

"Among the many remedies suggested none appeals to me so strongly as the authorization of the national bank circulation."

Indiana Bankers Meet.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 26.—The ninth annual convention of the Indiana Bankers' association met here Wednesday and listened to an address by Governor Hanly, in which he argued in favor of the establishment of a guaranty bank by the bankers of the state, saying that this would give security to depositors and would be the means of bringing out large sums of money that are hidden by persons who are suspicious of banks.

According to his plan all the bankers of the state should be interested in the guaranty bank, and where loss occurred by the failure of any of them the guaranty bank would make it good. The plan informally was discussed by some of the bankers, but the sentiment seemed to be that the plan would not prove of great value.

During the convention, it is said, C. H. Church, cashier of Muncie, vice-president of the association, will offer a proposition to indemnify or guarantee the deposits of the banks of Indiana. It is probable that the same proposition will be submitted at the next convention of the National Bankers' association by Mr. Church.

The proposition includes the organization of a "bankers' bank" to be known as the Indiana Bankers' Guaranty bank, with a capital of $5,000,000, invested in United States bonds. The purpose of this bank is to guarantee the payment of deposits in banks in this state.

BAD FIRE IN A HOT SPRINGS, ARK., HOTEL

Six Persons Were Burned to Death—
Some Are Not Yet
Identified.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]

Hot Springs, Ark., Oct. 26.—Six bodies were recovered from the ruins of the Pacific house, which were destroyed at three this morning. The known dead are: R. L. Mann, a railroad conductor of Denver; Harry Bradley, a waiter; and a Mrs. Mack. It was a cheap lodging-house and had thirty-five roomers last night. Mrs. Mack's infant is also believed to have perished.

Buy it in Janesville.

IT IS

AS EASILY REGULATED AS A LAMP—every door, draft and joint on the famous genuine ROUND OAK Heating Stove fits. Pains-taking workmanship, right principle of construction, with the best material money will buy, are the reasons why this famous stove holds the fire, saves the fuel and satisfies the purchaser.

You take no chances when you decide on a ROUND OAK, no matter what kind of fuel you wish to burn—hard coal (with or without magazine), soft coal, coke or wood.

With the hot blast (used only for soft coal), a steady, even fire is secured which consumes the soot and gases; the double fire pot with cone-center grate with rim discharge, prevents the formation of clinkers.

Think what a satisfaction that is—just shaking the grate cleans the entire bottom of the fire alike.

There is no other stove like it—others are made to look like it, but there the resemblance stops.

Look for the name on the legs, then you will know it is the original, genuine ROUND OAK.

= FORTY YEARS AGO =

Janesville Daily Gazette, Thursday, October 26, 1865.—City Items.—Horace Williston, who has received the appointment of cadet at West Point, has successfully passed his examination and entered upon the studies and duties of his new position.

Sitting in our office lonely, this morning, with nary an Assembly candidate near us, we were startled by hearing the piercing shrieks of a female, and jumping suddenly from our seats we made a rush for the police justice's office, from whence the sound seemed to proceed, pleasantly excited by the thought of getting a murder item. What was our disappointment to find that all the hubbub grew out of a rape case. It appears that there had been an arrest for alleged rape of a little girl, some days ago, and parties in an effort to settle the matter had excited the ire of the mother and she was venting her feelings in this high-faluting way. "That's what she merited."

The Circuit Judge—The Madison Journal has the following paragraph announcing the appointment of Colonel Lyon to fill the position of Judge made vacant by the resignation of Judge Noggle:

The Janesville Gazette says Judge Noggle, of the First Circuit, has resigned the office of Circuit Judge to take effect on the 1st day of December next, for the purpose of returning to the legal profession.

Colonel W. P. Lyon, elected to the office last spring, has been appointed to fill the vacancy between December 1st and January 1st, Judge Noggle himself having recommended the appointment.

Dexter's Mile.—Speaking of the horse Dexter trotting a mile in 2:18-1-5, Wilkes Spirit says: The mile made by this horse is the fastest ever performed by a trotter, and of course takes its place on the record as such. In this regard it displaces the 2:19 3/4 of the Temple, though we are inclined to think that, all things considered, the latter remains the best performance. It must be understood that we rate the value of the performance by the way of going and the saddle is, in our judgment, the fastest and the most natural way for a fast horse to go. Inasmuch, however, as Dexter is a capital harness and wagon horse, it is not improbable that he will become Florida's equal in harness. He is not a mere brushing horse, but one can ride all through the mile.

..COMING ATTRACTIONS..

Everybody who has seen a performance of "The Heir to the Hoohah" soon to be seen at the Myers Grand theatre, Tuesday, October 31, will remember with a grin of inward joy the Jiu Jitsu scene, in which T. Tamamoto, the little Japanese actor who plays Hush, (Joe Lacy's servant) puts Harry Rich, the big man who plays the butler, out of the room. One night in New York the Jiu Jitsu worked like the Gypsy curse. Little Tamamoto had seized Rich by the arm, gotten the approved stranglehold on his collar and started the upward motion of the wrist, which is Rich's cue to stumble backward through the door. Unfortunately the heel of Mr. Rich's boot caught in the heavy rug; he lurched forward just as Tamamoto thrust his arm inward and upward, and, as a consequence, experienced the actual results of the Jiu Jitsu trick which were stimulating. Mr. Rich played with his left wrist placed up in a leather gauntlet for many weeks. Mr. Tamamoto is the only Japanese actor who plays in English. He is a native of Tokio, a graduate of the imperial university, and learned his English before he came to this country. Like all Japs he is an enthusiastic partisan in the matters of the Russo-Jap war, and was prominent in organizing a benefit performance for the Japanese Red Cross. In this he had the help of all the members of "The Heir to the Hoohah" company.

The Robinson Stock Co. will present a repertoire of new comedies and dramas. "The Queen of Hearts" will be the opening bill today. Kit Jim Leveaux will be seen in the leading role and is backed by a company of clever players. Kit Leveaux has a rich voice and wins the audience with her specialties and her clever work as a comedienne. A fine repertoire of moving pictures will be shown during their three nights stand.

"The Perfect Food"

Now 10c.

It is the only food for children and the best food for grown or growing people because it is only pure grain—has absolutely no foreign sweetening substance. It is made in the cleanest food factory in the world from the whole wheat and combines all the elements that make blood, brain, nerves, muscle and bone. Besides it's just the best you ever tasted. At all grocers. Always ready to eat.

FUR LINED COATS

The most practical coat of many seasons, as it does away with the extra piece of fur which nearly all other coats require. Our coats were bought last June and are of selected skins made up in the best possible manner, which would not be true of coats made now when the rush is on. Two special values, viz:

BLACK BROADCLOTH COAT, lined throughout with blended squirrel, shawl collar of same, all sizes, 34 to 44; price, $25. BROADCLOTH COAT, black or brown, blended squirrel lining, shawl collar of Jap Mink, complete range of sizes, price, $30.

Other Fur Lined Coats at $35, $37 1/2, $45, $50 and $55.

BLACK KERSEY COATS

A large showing of the late models in the full back coat, also the empire coat. The lengths of these coats are from 45 to 55 inches long, and the prices are $6, $8.75, $10, $12.50, $15, $16.50 and upwards to $25.

MISSES' COATS

Some very nobby styles for the young ladies in 14, 16, 18- and 20-year sizes; prices, $5 to $20.

CHINESE ARMY.

Reports from the army maneuvers in China as viewed by European army officers show that the Chinese have made surprising strides toward modern warfare in the past few years. The Chinese can adapt themselves to almost any existing condition, and there is no reason why they should not have as great an array of fighting men as any nation in the world.

ROOSEVELT IN PAJAMAS.

Press dispatches announce that on pulling into Little Rock on his southern trip yesterday morning the noise of whistles and shouts awoke the President, and donning a rain coat over his pajamas he stepped onto the back platform and delivered a speech to the assembled crowd. Such an action shows a man. Doubtless he enjoyed the occasion fully as much as did his hearers. It would not take much to make Arkansas a republican state and perhaps Roosevelt's "pajama speech" may have done it.

SCOFIELD'S CASE.

The supreme court has dealt a telling blow to the aspirations of the Milwaukee Organ by deciding that their editorialists objected to by the former Governor are actionable ones and that they must stand trial on the charges brought. It is a fitting decision in view of the dirty campaign conducted by the Free Press a year ago when every means, fair or foul, was used to blacken the names of men who have made the republican party strong in the state. The Free Press case will be heard on its merits and it is to be hoped the former Governor has good grounds and will receive a goodly sum of damages.
Should this be so it may teach the administration ring mouthpiece a lesson it has sadly needed.

GOVERNOR "JIM."

We have had Governor "Bob" for five years now and it looks as though we were to have a Governor "Jim"
for some little time longer. Lieutenant Governor Davidson is acting Governor of the state. The real Governor has been away most of the summer and fall delivering lectures. Last Saturday a special coterie of the Governor decided that Irving Lenroot was to be the next republican candidate for Governor. In consequence
Mr. Lenroot made his announcement.
It is said that before this was made he went to Chicago in company with Mr. Haugen and Mr. Hannah, the Governor's private secretary, and conferred with the Governor. Governor
"Jim" was not consulted. In consequence he has delayed the announcement of his candidacy for some time to come. He will, however, be in the field and if he shows back bone enough to fight his own battles he may secure his coveted nomination.

THE JOURNAL'S OPINION.

The editor of the Wisconsin State Journal often plithly sizes up the political situation in the state in a manner worthy of recognition the state over. In discussing the possible candidacy of Mr. Lenroot the Journal
"man with the pen" says:
"Mr. Lenroot is the most objectionable of all the half breed offerings and it may as well be understood now that there are 75,000 Wisconsin republicans who will never vote for him. The choice of selecting a successor was difficult for Governor La-Follette but he did what a dictator would naturally do—hit upon a perfectly submissive tool, one who would obey orders and ask no questions.
This has been Lenroot in the past.
But the plot will not eventuate. La-Follette can have his seat in the senate but he must not have both, operating the state through a dummy governor. Mr. Lenroot has a certain adroitness that has made him useful to the governor in the factional stage;
but now that the latter is to leave the state for Washington and the citizens see an opportunity to draw a long breath, the state is entitled to a man of approved record, dignity, breadth of view, fairness and wholesome grasp. Lenroot's manifesto announcing his candidacy savors of that detestable cant about the continuation of reforms, blotting out deceitful

Just to capture the high office under the momentum of recent events. The Superior man is inexperienced save as he has been a tool-speaker of the legislature; he has had no legal experience, except as the administration gave him a job in connection with the late railroad cases under cover of veterans of the bar. His conduct of the legislature as speaker—an office which calls for justice to all the members—was servile in his subserviency to the executive chamber, and was the subject of much grave comment at the time. In short, all that this young stenographer is he owes to Governor La Follette who found him a pliable, obedient vessel and now the scheme is to land Lenroot
in the Governor's chair that La Follette may not lose grip on either the senate or the governorship. Boss Quay never plotted out a more obvious plan of control.

Happily there are evidences that the half breeds themselves will not respond to the pull of the string.
The Davidson men are indignant at the way he has been trodden under foot. The Governor may be under no obligations to favor the lieutenant governor, but it has been insulting that the latter has been forbidden to make his business and personal plans even to the point of knowing where he is to live this winter. It is a fact that since the legislature adjourned in June the two men have not spent five minutes together in considering the affairs of this great state. There are some 40,000 or 50,000 Norwegian-Americans in Wisconsin and the Davidson revolt, if there shall be one, will be serious. It is probably true that this gentleman is the most acceptable of the four candidates, avowed or likely. While Mr. Davidson has been as tractable as the governor could wish, his friends insist he would give all republicans fair treatment, if he were favored at their hands. The Connor boom is even a more serious thing, unless La Follette eliminates it by running the Marshfield man for Congress, or in some other way keeps him happy. Unlike Mr. Davidson, Mr. Connor is a master politician and with his money he can, if he wishes, make all manner of trouble for the Governor. As for Mr. McGilivray, he is the trick mule of the circus and will not out more than a picturesque figure. Some of the Stalwarts are advising keeping hands off and let the half breed quarrel seethe. Of course, if the stalwart support were thrown to Davidson,
the outcome would not be in doubt.
The peril is that the governor will be clever enough to call off by some means the other candidates and leave the field clear for Lenroot. But it will be a merry fight with these four candidates struggling for the mastery. And it will be a fierce struggle at all hazards, before republicans who are opposed to "boss rule" and "Boss" La Follette will consent to accept this brazen deal to have senatorial and gubernatorial power combined in the hands of one man.

PRESS COMMENT.

Justice to "Socksless Jerry."
Chicago Tribune: History will do Jerry Simpson the justice to say that he wore socks, but was too proud or too shrewd to let the people know it.

Why Alice May Be Glad.

Chicago Record-Herald: Miss Roosevelt says she is glad to get back to America. Well, she is one of those fortunate people who do not need to work after their vacations are ended.

Football Enthusiasts May Care.

Oshkosh Northwestern: There is a difference of opinion as to whether Thanksgiving will be celebrated this year on Nov. 23 or Nov. 30. But of course no one will particularly care, unless it is the turkey.

Means Justifying End.

Milwaukee News: A university education may unfit a man for business, as Mr. Carnegie says; but then, it should be remembered that a great many men are in business to give their sons a university education.

Rock of Gibraltar Next?

Green Bay Gazette: The searchlight of investigation is very liable to turn toward the Prudential Insurance company next, and if reports are correct, there will be as much of interest found there as in the other companies.

Pretty Rough on Mr. Edison.

Osborne, Kan., Farmer: The devil is going to have a mighty hard time when he comes to assign the place of honor. Besides the man who rocked the boat and the man who didn't know it was loaded there is the man who invented the phonograph.

Boost or Get Out.

Osawatimie (Kan.) Globe: The man who feels satisfied that this town is falling all to pieces should get out where it will not bother him and let people alone who are satisfied. Go to some other town—go to the devil—go anywhere, but don't stand around with a hammer pounding a place where you are getting your bread and butter.

The Commonplace Not Wanted.

Racine Journal: A paper published on ideal lines has been compelled to suspend publication in Chicago.
The publishers say that the barring of sensational items was the means of advertisers withholding their patronage. It is evident that the time is not yet ripe to appeal to people and advertisers to support a paper without the startling news features of the day in it.

Boom Too Long Delayed.

Chicago Inter Ocean: Quarter back Eckersall's friends, let us hope, will now see the danger of procrastination. They might well have launched his boom at Madison last Saturday when he delivered that never-to-be-forgotten kick. It was the psychological moment. Since then, however, the friends of Secretary Taft have pushed their candidate to the front.

Is Justice to La Follette.

Green Bay Gazette: The Washington correspondent of the Chicago
Journal declares that in Washington, Senator-Elect, La Follette is looked upon as a man with no knowledge of the political game. How little they really know La Follette in Washington. He may be short in a good many ways but he certainly is long on knowledge and skill in playing the little game of politics.

Mother-in-Law as a Friend.

Oshkosh Northwestern: Testimony
has been introduced in the Schandein will contest at Milwaukee showing that the elder Mr. Schandhein hated the very sight of Mr. Heyl, his son-in-law. The love of the mother-in-law, however, eventually landed the Schandhein millions safe in the lap of the favored Mr. Heyl. After all there is nothing like standing in with mother-in-law.

Too Much "Society" in Schools.

Fond du Lac Reporter: The action of the school authorities in placing a ban on the high school senior and junior "proms" is commendable. It may be something of a disappointment to the young people but it will also be greatly to their benefit. There is too much "society" in the schools at present. The students are apt to think more of learning their dancing lesson than they are of their algebra or grammar. Most young people give a great plenty of balls and parties entirely outside of their school connections and to have several elaborate functions each year, practically as a part of the school work, is a tax financially and physically.

Journal Soothing Syrup.

Milwaukee Journal: All the big companies undergoing investigations are financially sound. They have plenty of money to meet all their obligations. In fact they have too much money. Therefore the temptation to extravagance in administration. Hang onto your life insurance policy. If it is an ordinary life policy, you are absolutely secured by law. If it is of the investment character, you may not get as much as the agent promised you, but your money is safe. If you become a lapsed the company gets the money you have paid in, all and you get nothing.

Do not be frightened by investigations. The companies will be the stronger because of the search light that has been thrown upon their operations. The more investigation the better. Methods will be improved.
Extravagances will be stopped. Economies will be stopped. Do not rob your family. Hang onto your life insurance policy.

the occasion being her birthday anniversary. The evening was devoted to music and games and dainty refreshments were served at the conclusion of the festivities.

He Didn't Have To Pay the Bill.

A young man from one of our smaller adjoining cities came clear to Janesville recently and had some teeth extracted by Dr. Richards. How he liked it was revealed last Saturday by his mother from the same city coming here and paying a visit to the same dentist.

She said: "My son said, 'Now, ma, you take the train for Janesville and have Dr. Richards do your extracting. He did mine and didn't hurt me a bit. If he hurts you, I WILL PAY THE WHOLE BILL.'"

Of course they had good dentists at home, but the son knew that Dr. Richards of Janesville was the man he could bank on to deliver the goods.

The other day a promoter was around selling stock in a certain Mineral Point mine and he said: "I have put ALL MY NEAR RELATIVES in on this mine because I KNOW it is a sure thing."

Just so, you won't find any boy sending his relatives or his mother to a dentist and saying he "would pay the bill if she got hurt," UNLESS he KNOWS absolutely certain that the said dentist will not disappoint him.

FAMOUS PICKLES ARE NOW SETTLED

JUDGE HONORE SAYS THEY WERE NOT CHICAGO PICKLING.

BUT WERE NOT GUARANTEED

P. Hohenadel Company Through Their Attorneys, Pierce & Fisher.

Win a Victory.

Since the week of July 12th Judge Honore of Chicago has had the famous pickle case under consideration. Yesterday he handed down his decision, which proves to be a complete victory for the defendant, Philip A. Marsh, and indirectly P. Hohenadel of this city. Mr. John L. Fisher of Pierce and Fisher, attorneys, of this city said this morning: "There has perhaps been no case for several years that has caused more comment among the growers than has this case of Sweet and Company versus Philip A. Marsh. By the decision of Judge Honore of Chicago, Mr. Marsh is completely freed from liability in this case and the way is opened for a suit against H. W. Buskbee and Company of Rockford, from whom the seed was originally purchased, for large damages."

History of Case. The history of the case can be traced back to the purchase of thirty-five hundred pounds of cucumber seed by this city from H. W. Buskbee and Company of Rockford. The size of this purchase excited comment at the time it was made as there was enough seed to plant some three hundred acres. The seed was supposed to be of the variety known as Chicago pickling. Having more than they could themselves use, the P. Hohenadel company sold the greater portion of their purchase to Philip A. Marsh, a broker at 42 River street, Chicago. Mr. Marsh in turn sold the seed to other purchasers, among them Sweet and Company. Judge Honore of Chicago decided that Philip A. Marsh is not liable that twenty thousand bushels of cucumbers resembled pumpkins and carrots instead of genuine dainty Chicago Pickling pickles. He also found, however, that Mr. Marsh did not sell Sweet and Company Chicago Pickling, but some inferior grade of seed. This ends the case as far as Mr. Marsh is concerned, but only begins a larger suit against H. W. Buskbee & Co. of Rockford for damages which may amount to seventy thousand dollars.

One Paragraph. "One paragraph of Judge Honore's decision is as follows: 'Upon consideration, the court holds that there was no warranty of the seeds in the controversy such as justifies a recovery by the plaintiff. Judgment will be accordingly for the defendant.'"

Not Good Stuff. "Sweet and Company purchased in all some four hundred pounds, from which was grown twenty-two thousand bushels of cucumbers. They were crooked and soft, snubby and bent, looked more like small pumpkins than anything else. Mr. Sweet sued Mr. Marsh for fifteen thousand dollars damages on the grounds that they were not grown from Chicago Pickling seeds that he had ordered. Mr. Marsh tendered the defense to the P. Hohenadel Company and Mr. Pierce and myself tried the case for them. We spent the week of July 12th in Chicago trying the case before Judge Honore. The testimony was exhaustive and the interest manifested in the case by trade journals and the newspapers has been very great. Our contention was that in selling the seed to Sweet and company no guarantee was made it was Chicago Pickling seed and in this the court has sustained us."

To Start Suit. It is a clean cut victory for Pierce and Fisher and leads the way for a suit against Buskbee and Company of Rockford for sums which will probably aggregate seventy thousand dollars. Aside from the Sweet and company contention there were claims amounting to some thirty-five thousand dollars against Mr. Marsh on the same grounds. In some cases the seed had been guaranteed as Chicago Pickling and these have been settled. Others, where no guarantee was made, will be dropped.

DEAF MUTE ELEVEN TO PLAY SATURDAY

Local High School Boys to Meet Delavan State School Men Here Saturday.

At Athletic park in this city Saturday afternoon the football team of the State School for the Deaf at Delavan will meet the local high school eleven. The game will be a unique one in many respects. Neither team will be able to catch their opponents' signals; there will be no loud back talk to the umpire and referee, though some discussions may ensue; and the visitors will not be egged on by any rooting. The Delavan Institute usually is represented by a fast team with many trick plays and the locals are practicing speed. The game is to be called at two o'clock. Madison and Evansville have both written for games, the latter wishing Janesville to visit them on Thanksgiving-day. It is not thought that either school will be given a date, as a Thanksgiving game here is desired and there are other teams which the Bower city eleven is more anxious to meet.

GAME WITH FOREST CITY ASSOCIATION

Local Y. M. C. A. Basketball Team to Visit Rockford on Evening of November 11.

J. A. Ward, physical director at the local Y. M. C. A., received a letter from the manager of the Rockford Association athletics this morning, which closed the arrangements for a basketball game between the two representative fives. The contest is to be in the Forest City on the evening of Saturday, November 11, and is the first of the schedule that the Janesville aggregation will play this season. The following have been practicing faithfully and from them the team will no doubt be chosen: Leonard Mathews, George Senett, Roy F. Foster, Chester Morse, Fred Wilkerson and Walter Carle. Mr. Ward is also in receipt of a letter from the manager of the Lewis Institute five, which says that a trip through this part of northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin is being planned and asks for a date. No arrangements have yet been made, but it is possible that the famous Lewis team will be seen in action here this winter against a local five.

MUCH TO FORGIVE IN JOHNNY JONES PLAY

As Presented at the Myers Theatre Last Evening—Also Several Things to Praise.

Without a single principal who could sing and few whose acting was above ordinary, No. 2 company presenting George Cohan's musical melodrama, "Little Johnny Jones," made a favorable impression on a goodly proportion of the large audience at the Myers theatre last evening. The musical play itself is so good, the lines so clever, the costumes and scenic appointments so excellent that even mediocre performers could not fail. So far as acting is concerned, William Keough, who took the part of "The Shadow" and delivered the laugh-provoking lines about "not starting anything that couldn't be finished," the "mean disposition" philosophy, etc., was the one bright light. The pretensions of the others were simply ridiculous. Gus P. Thomas as the American Gambler was acceptable and Helen Dexter in her several parts was not so bad. M. J. Sullivan, as the New York politician, was a bore and so was Maud Morris as the female reporter and Hugh Mack as "Sing Sing," the Chinaman. The much-heralded Bobbie Barry was a distinct disappointment. He cannot be compared with George Evans, who appeared here in "The Runaways" a few weeks ago, and whose style he follows with indifferent success. And George Evans has yet to be placed among the highest class of comedians. The choruses were very good and the audience demanded but didn't get encores for several of the songs such as "Good Bye, Flo," "Good Old California," and "Give My Regards to Broadway." It appears that Geo. Cohan, the author, believes that song repetitions interfere with and divert the mind from the plot, and has given orders to the company to at all times ignore the audience's ill-advised wishes in this respect. It may be alright to "educate" the public along this line when there are real actors to make something vital of the plot. The evolutions of the chorus were also well performed and the ensemble effects in their dances were good. Individually the performers were not so good. The show girls were by no means the entrancing beauties many were expecting to see. The scene at the dock, mirroring the sailing of the ship and the march of the Frisco chinks were inspiring and beautiful.

It may be objected that Mr. Carter, having been Hugues' father-in-law and senior partner, was prejudiced in the young man's favor, but there is another view even of that. He had been in a position to study and know his man.

Charles E. Hughes was born at Glens Falls, N. Y. His father was a Baptist minister. Part of young Hughes' boyhood was spent in Newark, N. J. Later the family moved to New York city, and Charles graduated from one of the most famous high schools of the metropolis, when he was a year too young to enter college. That year he was taught by his father, and the next was spent in a college in New York state. The last three years of the college course, however, were passed at Brown university, where the boy graduated at

Home Health Club

By DAVID H. READER, Ph. D., M. D.
Lafayette, Ind.

Are we degenerating? Two prominent health magazines have recently had hysterics over a report made by one of the recruiting officers of the English army in which he states that the physical condition of English manhood is "terribly significant and most disquieting."

I am going to say, however, that I think the committee appointed to investigate the subject of physical degeneration was quite correct in making a report entirely contrary. The Anglo-Saxon race is not, by any means, degenerating but is growing stronger and healthier year by year. The Home Health Club proudly claims to be one of the factors that is helping in no small degree the upward tendency.

The report of the recruiting officers says: "Perhaps the gravest feature is that the whole question of voluntary enlistment is affected by this deplorable low standard of physique of the nation generally and British soldiers in particular."

"Of the men who offer themselves for military service every year nearly half are rejected by the medical officers. In 1903 there were 60,861 recruits, but only 29,575 were accepted."

"These figures, bear in mind, take no account of the very large number of men who want to join the army, but whom the recruiting sergeants will not even look at, well knowing them to be so manifestly unfit for service that it would be waste of time to take them before the doctors."

"There would be no dearth of recruits if all who offered were physically sound enough to pass the medical examination. With a yearly quota of 60,000 men, the number at present forthcoming, there would never be any scarcity of soldiers if it were not for the fact that so many have to be rejected."

"This army of chronic invalids is the best the nation can produce. They are the picked men of the country, though they are feeble in constitution and easily succumb to disease. Such as they are, these few chosen from the many are the wheat winnowed from the chaff."

"The rejections have been steadily increasing for some years past. Ten years ago there were 34 per cent. or one in three. Now one in every two is rejected, and solely for medical reasons."

"These rejections are on account of defects that indicate poor physical development in the class from which the military are largely recruited. The defects are deficiencies in weight and chest measurements, weak constitutions, diseases incidental to general debility and unsound organs. Flat feet and bad teeth are also fruitful causes, the latter increasingly so, proving that the food eaten by the men is unwholesome, and that their daily life is ruinous to their health."

In the last paragraph the report gives the secret of the whole trouble. "The class from which the military are largely recruited." How many of our strong, rugged school boys ever offer themselves for enlistment in the regular army? There is better work and better pay for the American as well as the English lad, and the boys with sound bodies have sound brains as well and they know that the great battle of life that is to be crowned with pleasure, honor and glory is not to be found in the barracks of the regular army."

I think I would almost as willingly see one of my sons laid in his grave while yet clean and pure as to see him become one of these recruits. But let the demand come for men to defend our homes or our honor and I am ready, as are all other citizens, to not say: "Go, and God be with you," but "Come and God will be with us because we fight for the right." Look at the strong, lusty men who eagerly presented themselves when a citizen like Theodore Roosevelt said "Come." Let any real danger menace the home of England or America and the recruiting officers will receive such a surprise that pessimism and talk of degeneracy will be unheard of again. He is mistaken when he says that those who present themselves are the pick and best standards of physical manhood which the nation produces.

CLUB NOTES.

Viroqua.—Dr. David H. Reader, Lafayette, Ind.—Dear Doctor: My husband has been a subscriber for this paper for a good many years and I have been much interested in the Home Health Club department. I would like to ask your advice about my husband. He had his hip put out of place three years ago; not knowing it at the time, he always thought it was rheumatism that made his hip ache and the leg shorter than the other. This summer it was so much worse that he went to a doctor, who said the hip had been out of place so long that nothing could be done. Do you think it could be put in place by osteopathy or chiropractic? My husband is 62 years old. Any advice will be thankfully received. I will send you a recipe for ague or any other malarial disease. I have known it to cure the ague of two years' standing, when the best doctor could only give relief.

Cardamom seed 1 oz.
Peruvian bark 2 oz.
Jamestown weed 1 oz.
Camomile flowers 1½ oz.
Virginia snake root 1 oz.
Anise seed 1 oz.
Colombo root 1 oz.
Quinine 25 gr.
Alcohol 1 qt.
Put all in a jug with one quart of water. Let this stand for 12 hours.

then add two quarts of water. Dose: One tablespoonful three times per day. The night before beginning the use of this remedy, take a dose of some good physic. I think if this could be kept without the alcohol it would be better. Respectfully yours, A. R.

I quite agree with you in your belief that the herb remedy that you have described would be better without the alcohol, although the quantity is only about 20 per cent. By preparing according to the formula for making infusions, the alcohol will not be necessary.

In regard to the condition of your husband, his age is somewhat against successful treatment, so also is the length of time which his hip has been dislocated. But it is not an impossibility to overcome it, if he can secure the services of a thoroughly reliable and skillful osteopath.

Monticello.—Dr. David H. Reader, Lafayette, Ind.—Dear Doctor: In last week's paper I noticed that a reader wanted a remedy that would rid his premises of fleas. If he will get pennyroyal, the plant, and scatter where they are, the fleas will leave the house and barn. If he cannot get the plant, dilute the oil with alcohol and sprinkle it around. We used it in our house a long time ago and we have not been bothered since.

Can also give P. D. E. a remedy for whooping cough which never fails to relieve and will cure in a few days if taken in time. It is as follows: Mix one lemon, sliced, half pint whole flaxseed, two ounces of honey and one quart of water. Let this simmer, not boil, for four hours. Strain when cool and if less than one pint, add water. Dose: One tablespoonful four times daily and also one after each coughing spell. This is warranted to cure in four days if given when the child first whoops. I cured my children and grandchildren with this remedy. Sincerely yours, Mrs. S. M. P.

Pennyroyal is an excellent remedy against almost all kinds of insect pests, and I think the pesky little fleas will take the hint quite suddenly if the suggestions are followed.

The remedy for whooping cough is a safe one and well worth trying. Another way of disposing of fleas is rather novel. It comes from one of our Massachusetts readers and is as follows:

"If James J. will enclose himself in fuzzy flannel he will find immense relief. The fleas get their legs tangled in the fuzzy material and are there to stay. For clearing the barn of them, he should keep sheep."

Nebraska.—Dr. David H. Reader, Lafayette, Ind.—Dear Sir: I will enclose 30 cents in stamps, for which send me the pamphlet series four. I also would like to ask you a few questions. I am 30 years of age, five feet four inches high, weigh 163 pounds. Have been married ten years and have three children. I enjoy good health except I think I am too fat and will keep getting fatter, as my mother is very fleshy; but don't want to if there is any help. Especially does the fat collect over the abdomen and stomach and makes such an ugly figure. I have a wonderful appetite. Do you think I might eat too much? Trusting I have not taken too much of your valuable time, I remain, yours truly, Mrs. R. E.

The probabilities are that you not only eat too much, but that you do not properly masticate your food. If you will practice the method of harmless home treatment for obesity or excessive fat, as described in pamphlet No. 1, of the Home Health Club Lectures, you can easily reduce yourself without expense or starvation, to a normal weight, and you will be stronger and healthier than you have been for years and will also feel much better.

All readers of this publication are at liberty to inquire for any information pertaining to the subject of health. Address all communications to the Home Health Club or Dr. David H. Reader, Lafayette, Ind., giving name and address in full and at least four cents in postage.

Professors' Salaries.

The official pay of the foreign professor at first glance seems absurdly small in comparison with the pay in American institutions. In Prussia, for example, a full professor receives by law $1,000 (in Berlin $1,200) the first year, to be increased $100 a year every fourth year for 20 years. In addition he receives an allowance for house rent. This is, however, only the fixed part of his income. The honorarium which he receives from the fees of his students will very greatly depend on the subject taught and the attractive power of the teacher. Incomes of $5,000 a year, and even larger sums, are received in the larger universities by certain well-known men. Taking into account the fact that the foreign professor has a life place, that his widow and minor children receive pensions, he is better off financially, and is far more free from the anxieties which come with modest income, than is his American brother whose nominal pay is higher.—Henry S. Pritchett, in Atlantic.

FOOTBALL ACCIDENTS

Startling Record of Gridiron Fatalities For Five Years.

FORTY-FIVE HAVE BEEN KILLED

Hundreds of Players Have Also Been Injured During That Time in Plays Against Which President Roosevelt Voted Protests—Few Games Played in Which No One Was Hurt.

That there is good reason for the college football authorities to eliminate unnecessary roughness from the game as advised by President Roosevelt is shown by the record for only five years. Forty-five deaths and hundreds of serious injuries is the record during that time. Hardly a single game has been played during which it has not been necessary to carry one or more of the players from the field. In almost every instance the death or injury was due directly to the heavy mass plays against which President Roosevelt and the country at large are protesting so vigorously, says the New York Herald.

To chronicle all the injuries would require the use of thousands of names, and even then none would be included where the hurt was of a less serious character than the breaking of a collar bone. The mere spraining of an ankle is not considered of sufficient importance to interest anybody except the individual player and perhaps the parents.

But in the big college games alone the list of injuries is large enough to prove interesting, showing, as it does, ten legs and fourteen collar bones broken in four years of play for a brief six weeks each, to say nothing of four skulls fractured, five spines injured, four shoulders dislocated and a couple of broken noses. One player got his neck broken without its causing his death.

Of the forty-five who gave their lives to football nearly every death may be traced to the "unnecessary roughness" against which Mr. Roosevelt has protested. Picked up unconscious from beneath a mass of other players, it was generally found the victim had been kicked in the head or stomach so as to cause internal injuries or concussion of the brain, which sooner or later ended in life.

Sixteen died as a result of internal injuries, four from broken necks, six from concussion of the brain, eight from broken backs, three from paralysis, two from heart failure, one from lockjaw, one from blood poisoning, due to a cut received in a game; one from hemorrhages and two from meningitis, induced by spinal injuries suffered in play.

It is true that the death list includes the names of none of the players on the teams of the leaders in football, but not a season goes by in which the best-trained players are not seriously hurt. As a rule, the players who are killed were in minor teams or not themselves sufficiently hardened to endure the strain of the game.

But those who maintain that the game is in danger of being buried beneath an avalanche of popular disapproval have plenty of evidence on which to argue their point that the very best players are in constant peril, if not of their lives at least of receiving injuries which may weaken them for life.

Ellis of Harvard, for instance, in 1900 was out after the game with West Point. De Witt, Princeton's big guard, had to be taken out of the game for weeks at a time because of injuries. Roper and Davis, two of the orange and black's most promising players, went out with strained ligaments in practice play. Perry Hale, Yale's big fullback in that year, hurt both his knee and ankle seriously before the big games were played.

Wiley and Burke of Princeton, two promising candidates, were put out in 1901 with broken collar bones, and Mills, Princeton's giant guard, had the ligaments of his ankle broken in the Cornell game of 1901. In practice that year such a seasoned player as Wilhelm, Yale's halfback, had to be carried off the field with a wrenched knee which kept him out of the game for days; while Soper and Andrews, Yale's substitute halfback and guard, were internally injured. After the game with Harvard De Saulles of Yale had to be taken to a Boston hospital.

Tyndeman and Foote of Cornell were put out of the game in 1903 with a dislocated shoulder and a broken nose. Williams, Carls' captain, had his spine seriously hurt in the game with Virginia in 1902. Thorpe and Talberts of Columbia had a collar bone and ankle broken in the Yale game of 1903. Turner of Brooklyn and Lawrence of Bayside, two promising candidates for varsity positions, were put out last year, one with a strained back and the other with a dislocated knee. Twichell of Hartford, substitute quarterback for Yale, had his spine badly hurt. Brill, Harvard's star tackle, had to leave the line when he had been depended upon to hold Hogan, Yale's great tackle, and an X ray showed that the bones of his shoulder were shattered.

Already this season Hollenback of the University of Pennsylvania, a promising candidate for left end, has had his leg broken above the ankle. And all of the big games and most of the games of lesser importance are yet to be played.

National Home For Letter Carriers.

Officials of the New York Letter Carriers' association announced recently that a national home for letter carriers is to be built at Colorado Springs. A 100 acre site adjoining the Union Printers' home has been secured, and the building will cost $200,000.

Oshkosh saloon-keepers have been victimized to the extent of about $100 with bogus checks purporting to be issued by the Grand Lumber company of Oshkosh to Nels O. Hansen and Ole C. Nelson.

FINDS DE SOTO RECORDS UNDER HUGE BOWLDER

Farmer, Living on Shore of Lake Itasca, Blasts Big Rock and Discovers Valuable Bit of Writing.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 26.—After more than three centuries, a record of the De Soto expedition has been found on the shore of Lake Itasca under a huge bowlder, where it has lain undisturbed. The record, written on the skin of an antelope, was found by Chester Gray, a farmer living on the shore of Lake Itasca, which is the source of the Mississippi river. He will send the record to the Smithsonian institution in Washington.

The bowlder under which the antelope-skin letter was found had aroused Gray's curiosity and finally he blasted it away. Buried under it and still well preserved he found the skin.

The record, which is barely legible, is dated Aug. 3, 1547, and signed by friend and have named it for them, members of De Soto's exploring party, who in the letter say they have named the lake, whence arises the great river in which De Soto had been buried six years before, "Lake De Soto."

"Many wild red men and women are about us," it is written in the record, "but they are our friends and we are theirs, and we move among them and tell them of the world beyond these leafy walls and of God and heaven, but they do not hearken to us and often point to their brows and shake their heads. We have told them of the wonderful river that has been our friend have named it for them, and for us, in their tongue, 'Miz-Cepi,' which means 'Great River.'"

"They tell us of wars in generations now long gone by from which people suffered, and how they have been conquered and driven far to the north, but have gained strength again when the boys grew to be men and have returned and driven out the invaders of their hunting grounds. And they tell us that even now a mighty and warlike nation, dwelling to the eastward, on water so great that it stretches out to meet the sky, make threats to come and take this fair land from our friends. For fear that this may indeed come to pass and we lose our lives in strife, and thus our discovery and our history be forever lost, we make this writing and bury it where in future days it may be found and knowledge given to mankind."

DEVIL LOOSE IN MEXICO.

Many Unpleasant Things Happen There on the Day of San Bartolo.

A big fire, a suicide and a number of accidents in the city and a heavy wind and rainstorm here and numerous crimes and accidents in many parts of the republic were the natural consequences, it is to be supposed, of the annual one day's leave of absence taken by his diabolical majesty the devil yesterday—a leave of absence which his majesty spends in this earthly planet doing a number of devilish tricks, says the Mexican Herald.

It is a common belief among almost all Mexicans that on the day of San Bartolo the devil is loose and many unpleasant things happen. The devil is supposed to be very busy all the year around roasting bad people in the inferno, but on the day of San Bartolo he takes a little rest and comes to the earth to see how things are going on. That is, he comes on a trip of inspection to see the prospects for the coming year.

Many people are so superstitious about this that they stay at home all day and refuse to leave their homes, according to tradition, it occurred one time that the devil disguised himself and called upon people whom he wanted to carry away. The object of the visit was briefly explained and the interested parties were so scared that most of them dropped dead, whereupon the devil carried away their souls.

The superstition is much more widely spread in the states of the interior. In Guadalajara, for instance, they claim that San Bartolo is the day when the city shall be destroyed by a flood and a hurricane, according to the prediction of a priest who died many years ago, although nobody knows the name of that prophet nor the year when he made his prophecy.

AND JONES GOT HIS RAISE

Smart Trick of His Friend Willie Unexpectedly Helped Him to Get It.

"The question is," said the young man, according to the New York Sun, "whether the joke is on me or Jones. 'You see, Jones came to me.' 'I ought to have my pay raised $10 a week,' says he, 'but I hate to tackle the boss. How would you go about it?'"

"Why don't you write to him, saying that Mr. Jones is a deserving young man, who has done good work for the firm, and ought to have his pay raised five dollars a week?" says I. "Then sign it 'Lewis Jarvis,' and send it in."

"By jove, that's a great idea," says he. I thought he'd take it as a joke, of course. But that night Jones came up to me, grinning all over.

"Well, I sent that Lewis Jarvis letter," says he. "Sent it through the mail, too."

"Say, I felt rotten. Here I'd let a young and inexperienced man like Jones to get gay with the boss, and maybe ruined all his prospects. I lay awake half that night, and the more I thought, the more it seemed to me that it was going to be up to Willie to 'fess up and save the job for Jones."

"I didn't see Jones until noon next day. He came to me with his hand out."

"Say!" says he, "the boss thinks it's the greatest ever! He's showing it to the big boss now, and they're splitting their sides. And he made the raise $7.50."

WOULD USE MURDERERS TO BENEFIT THE RACE

Chancellor Andrews Holds Condemned Might Become Heroes Through Vivisection Means.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 26.—Obdurate murderers would immeasurably benefit the human race if their living bodies could be used for experimental purposes by scientists, biologists and physiologists. This was the theory advanced by Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews of the state university in an address delivered to the delegates of the National Prison Congress at St. Paul's church. The chancellor discussed the death penalty.

Concerning the case-hardened criminals he said: "It is, I suppose, a fact that no further knowledge of the human body is to be hoped for by studying the cadaver. All advance in anatomy and physiology for the behoof of medicine and surgery, helping against disease, pain and death, must come from the examination of living specimen, preferably human."

"One of the most useful services to humanity which a live human body could perform would be letting itself be experimented with, under anesthesia or otherwise, to help solve outstanding physiological and biological problems. A body used that way might easily produce benefit to the race compared with which that of a soldier's death in battle would seem trifling."

In his concluding paragraph Chancellor Andrews said he would not advance experiments with unwilling murderers, but should a criminal volunteer his criminal record might be expunged thereby.

Vivisection by Women.

Eight women students have entered a large class in vivisection, which will be taught this quarter at the University of Chicago, says a Chicago dispatch to the New York Times. They will experiment on dogs, for which they pay 50 cents each; cats, for which they pay 25 cents, and, as one of the instructors said, on "anything else they can get hold of." This course will be conducted notwithstanding continuous protests made all over the country by individuals and humane institutions.

Hospital For Fishes.

The Vienna Hospital For Disabled Fishes is surprising the doctors. The patients have already included a carp having an inflammation akin to appendicitis, ten others with snailpox, a porpoise from the Adriatic with inflammation of the lungs, a trout with cataract in both eyes and another with dropsy.

HOW MUCH OF YOUR LIFE IS SPENT IN TRYING TO GET OUT OF THE FRYING PAN WITHOUT GETTING INTO THE FIRE?

To many people the little accidents and incidents of daily life turn into "Frying Pans," with exits leading into the flames—which is merely another way of saying that these people "stew" and fret and worry over things that happen, and in seeking "ways out," or remedies, usually only succeed in making things worse.

It requires but a small thing to put the average man or woman on a "frying pan." The loss of a good clerk, a good customer, a good tenant, a pocket-book, a servant—any one of these losses is enough; and then it is a case of "nerves" and irritation and fuss and fury until relief comes.

But it is not necessary, in getting out of these "frying pans," to get singed and scorched and blistered. Acting like a derriek, a want advertisement will usually land you free and clear of both pan and fire—but you take some risk in trying to leap the hurdle unassisted.

AND THE BEST PART OF IT IS THIS: THAT, AFTER A WHILE, "THE WANT AD. HABIT" WILL ENTIRELY CURE YOU OF THE "FRYING PAN HABIT," SO THAT YOU WILL NO LONGER BEGIN "TO STEW" OR "BOIL" WHEN SOMETHING GOES WRONG—BUT WILL TURN TO WANT ADVERTISING AS EASILY AND NATURALLY AS YOU WOULD TURN TO A SHOE STORE FOR SHOES, OR TO A STREET CAR TO TAKE YOU HOME.
